MRS. MCKINLEY PASSING AWAY

Her Life at Noon Was Reported to be Hanging by a Thread.

PATHETIC ENDING OF THE TOUR OF THE PRESIDENTIAL PARTY

Inseparable in Life, the President and His Wife Remain Together to the End—Planning to Take Her East and Not to Leave the Train But at a Few of the Larger Cities.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—The Associated Press learned at noon that Mrs. McKinley's life hangs by a thread and that it is liable to expire any moment.

At 10 a. m. President McKinley was at the bedside of his wife, without hope that she would ever recover. After a comparatively easy night, she commenced to sink rapidly at 5 o'clock this morning. Dr. Pixey hurriedly summoned Drs. Hirschfelder and Gibbons. They arrived at the Scott residence before 10 o'clock and everything their knowledge and skill could suggest was done to keep alive the spark of life in Mrs. McKinley.

At 9:30 Secretary Cortelyou gave out a bulletin announcing that Mrs. McKinley's condition had become more alarming owing to a sinking spell at 5 o'clock and that the President had cancelled all engagements.

Members of the President's Cabinet called at the house early this morning but could be of no assistance and returned sadly to their hotels. They kept in constant telephonic communication with Secretary Cortelyou, who, even to members of President's official family, was extremely reticent.

An anxious night was passed by many watchers in and about the temporary home of President and Mrs. McKinley on the western slope of Clay Street Hill. A heavy fog hung low over the city and the long hours until morning were cold and cheerless.

At midnight the sufferer was sleeping quietly and her condition showed improvement. The digestive trouble which had caused great uneasiness had in a measure subsided to treatment and hope was expressed that the crisis had passed.

Nothing definite was given out during the early hours of morning. The lights in the house burned low and the figures of the nurses could be seen faintly outlined against the curtains of the sick room. The detectives and police guarded the door and talked in subdued tones and drivers of milk wagons and other vehicles approaching the neighborhood at daybreak were warned away or told to drive in a wick so as to make no unnecessary noise. The only word that could be obtained at sunrise was that Mrs. McKinley had rested as well as could be expected, though it was stated that her condition was very critical.

In an authorized statement made by Irving M. Scott, the future movements of the President so far as decided upon were announced, subject to change or revocation should Mrs. McKinley not improve. For today the trip up Mount Tamalpais and all other events arranged for the day have been abandoned.

At night the President was to attend

NON-UNIONISTS AT ALBANY, NEW YORK

Run Street Cars Today and the Militia Do Vigorous Work in Keeping Road Open.

Two Hours Spent Before All Obstructions Were Removed. Then Strikers Subdued Demonstrations. But Will Discuss the Situation.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 16.—At 8 o'clock this morning the United Traction Company began preparations to move their cars. The twenty-third regiment was brought out before the Quail street barn. The tenth battalion started down town, dropping out details at street corners along the traction line.

Company A, started to clear out the mob massed on Central Avenue. Persuasion was of no avail. "Charge bayonets," shouted Colonel Brady. Down went the gleaming points and on the mob men started for the crowd. Just as they reached them there was a quick reverse of the guns and the bullets smashed against human bodies.

With a howl the crowd started back, some with bloody faces, some with broken bones. The mob was not allowed to stop until driven three blocks away. Then every side street for blocks around was cleared and the details began closing up the saloons.

It was 10 o'clock before the first car reached the last of the obstructions and then it was run to the end of the line. Evidently the great display of military force awed the riotous element. As the numerous cars kept coming down hill crowd near the postoffice began to be excited.

The militia charged the crowd and drove them two blocks away. The demonstration was then limited to jeering those on the cars.

The strikers have called a conference for 3 p. m. to discuss the situation.

BOERS MUSTER A LARGE FORCE

Will Carry on a Destructive Warfare All Winter.

No Prospect of an Immediate Conquest By the British.

A Scandal Involving the French Minister of Justice—Sultan of Turkey Crawfishing.

LONDON May 16.—"The Pretoria correspondence of the 'Times' in a letter dated April 18 says: 'In another fortnight the South African winter will have arrived, and unless the Boers are prevented from moving north to the bush veldt and hostilities are somehow ended there will be a series of fights and campaigning in an unsatisfactory country, together with five months of peace in the two colonies to be broken by a recrudescence of guerrilla operations all over the country when the spring rains enable the enemy to operate on the high veldt. 'But this will mean no respite to the troops, the moving into winter quarters, but only a continuance of the most demoralizing warfare that can be undertaken.'

"The correspondent then describes a 'dreadful scheme which is on foot to prevent the enemy retreating north into winter quarters,' but he does not appear to be very sanguine of its success.

"The figures of the intelligence bureau," he says, "show that there are still between 18,000 and 19,000 burghers available for service, although no commando is known to exist larger than 800 men."

PARIS, May 16.—The political calm has been rudely broken by two incidents: The return of Marquis De La Roche being one, while the alleged exposure of a scandal affecting M. Monnier, the French Minister of Justice, is the second.

It is rumored in some quarters that M. Monnier will resign in consequence of this exposure.

It appears that a German firm exhibiting brandy at the recent exposition was excluded from an award by the jury of awards on account of the appearance of their bottled brandies and the label employed, which were regarded as unfair imitations of French cognac.

Nevertheless this German firm was included in the list of those awarded gold medals in the official journal. The Libre Presse points out that M. Monnier was the honorary president of the concern exhibiting this class of alcoholic products and insinuates that he is responsible for the forgery from which he personally profited.

SHAMROCK SECOND CLEARLY OUTSAILED

Mer Sails Did Not Hang at All Right for Speed.

Will Be Overhauled and Made Ready for the American Race.

LONDON, May 16.—The Yacht World says: "While it would be idle to deny that the first trial between the two Shamrocks was a keen and absolute disappointment, yet one or two important considerations should not be forgotten in analyzing their work on the legs of the triangle and points out, that on the first leg a reach of six miles, the challenger just succeeded in holding the older boat. In going to windward in the dead heat of the second six miles, the Shamrock II was clearly outtailed. As the yacht ran home the wind was falling, so that the half mile separating them at the finish represented five minutes and five seconds."

The Yachting World adds: "From this it is apparent that the only leg on which the new boat failed appreciably was on the turn to windward and comparing the manner in which her canvas hung with the beautiful set of the former challenger's sails the wonder is that the loss was comparatively so trifling."

"The maneauver of the challenger, the Yachting World says, set like a bag. Another consideration is that the Shamrock I was freed from overburdening by her crippled boom and gaff. The Yachting World concludes that while it remains to be seen whether the new boat can beat the old boat handsomely in fine weather and lighter breezes dependency is premature."

Captain Jameson has gone to Dublin but will return here toward the end of the week. Sir Thomas Lipton said last night: "Captain Jameson lays no special stress on the defeat of the challenger by Shamrock I. But he has decided that the sails are villainous and he expects satisfactory results from the new outfit." The dock last night was guarded at all points by special policemen, the entrances being barricaded. It is said that some parts of the challenger which opened early in the last race require retasting.
